

Howard Berry: A Selected Bibliography

Books

Understanding the Education—And Through It the Culture—in Education Abroad. Howard A. Berry and Linda A. Chisholm. New York: The International Partnership for Service-Learning, 2002.

Service-Learning in Higher Education Around the World: An Initial Look. Howard A. Berry and Linda A. Chisholm. New York: The International Partnership for Service-Learning, 1999.

How to Serve and Learn Abroad Effectively: Students Tell Students. Howard A. Berry and Linda A. Chisholm. New York: The International Partnership for Service-Learning, 1992.

Articles

“Hearing Other Global Voices: Is Education Listening?” Howard A. Berry. Action Reflection. The International Partnership for Service Learning, Fall 2001.

“If I Had a Hammer . . .” Howard A. Berry. Action Reflection. The International Partnership for Service Learning, Winter 1995.

“Service Learning in International and Intercultural Settings,” And “Experiential Education: The Neglected Dimension of International/Intercultural Studies.” Howard A. Berry. Combining Service Learning: A Resource Book for Community and Public Service. Jane C. Kendall and Associates. National Society for Internships and Experiential Education, 1990.

“Beyond Entry Level: International Service-Learning, Business and the World.” Howard A. Berry. The Next Challenge: Balancing International Competition and Cooperation. Mary Fifield and Clyde Sakamoto, eds. AACJC, 1987.

“International Education Models.” Howard A. Berry. Approaches to International Education. Earl L. Backman, ed. American Council on Education, Macmillan, 1984.